To your enquiry, why had not bushels of potitions been sent in against the bill, we would reply by putting another question, why had not bushels been sent in in its favour? You caght to know, insperienced though you be, that the people of the country generally are naturally apathetic in such matters; and that they trust (alsa, how valut)!) be the intelligence, pairiotism, and good sense of their representatives to re-ist anything in the shape of tyramy, or that approaches to class domination. That manhood suffrage, unrestricted as it is in this bill, will lead to the ascendancy of mere numbers, to the subversion of intelligence and property, has been clearly shown by the elequent speeches of members on both sides of the House who opposed it, and by a hest of authorities. We did not elect you, having in view your advocacy of such a measure. Had your election depended upon that one point, out you would have gone, however, inefficient your opponent might have been. Your whole speach is devoid of logic. To your enquiry, why had not bushels of potitions been sent in against the bill, we would reply by putting another question, why had not bushels been sent in in its favour? You caght to know, insperienced though you be, that the people of the country generally are naturally apabletic in such matters; and that they trust (aias, how valut) i) to the intelligence, pairiotism, and good sense of their representatives to re-list anything in the shape of tyranny, or that approaches to class domination. That manhood unfrage, unrestricted as it is in this bill, will lead to the ascendancy of mere numbers, to the subversion of intelligence and property, has been clearly shown by the elequent speeches of members on both sides of the House who oppead it, and by a hest of authorities. We did not elect you, having in view your advocacy of such a measure. Had your election depended upon that one point, out you would have gone, however, inefficient your opponent might have been. Your whole speach is devoid of logic. Does it follow that, because Mr. Donaldson, ironically, addressed an unwashed individual who was interrupting him at an election meeting "as his honorable friend," that the colony is therefore tending to a democracy? No such thing. The same incident might have occurred in London to Lord John Russell, or at Tiverton to Lord Palmerston and yot there would be no fear of the ascendancy of democracy in England. That manhood unfrage, unrestricted as it is in this bill, will lead to the ascendancy of mere numbers, to the subversion of intelligence and property, has been clearly shown by the elequent speeches of members on both sides of the House who oppose it, and by a hest of authorities. We did not elect you, having in view your advocacy of such a measure. Had your election depended upon that one point, out you would have gone, however, inefficient your opponent might have been. Your whole speach is devoid of logic. Does it follow that, because Mr. Donaldson, ironically, addressed an unwashed individual who was interrupting him at an election meeting "as his benerable friend," that the colony is therefore tending to a democracy? The expense incurred in lightening the ship, and endeavouring to tow and lowing her off, and in forwarding the passengers and their luggage and the cargo to Melbourne, amounted to £4672 E. 7d. The plaintiffs in this action claimed £635 So. 4d., being would and the under writers on massage money. The defendants contended that they are not light at all, and if lishe that their liability was more than covered by £290 which they had paid into court. The Lord Chief Baron, in giving luggment, said, The question for the opinion of the court is, whether the plaintiffs are entitled to recover from the defendants and above the sum of £300 which has been paid into court. What they had been paid and £215 is the expense to which they they were not liable at all, and if liable that their liability was sengers to Melbourne was £7th, because £500 has been paid, and £215 is the expenses to forever which is more a matter of surmise than a thing to be derived from any evidence, I should think that £715 vea

I trus: we shall be saved from any such estastrophe as these remarks would imply, but the feeling throughout England is general, and wherever you go the subject is fully and freely discussed, with an ovident consciousness that the political horizon is far less clear than it was a month ago. MR. LABOUCHERE, in his speech at the late London dinner, celebrating the foundation of the Australian Colonies, stated that he never opened a despatch from an Australian Governor without finding him in the midst of a ministerial crisis. We might almost retort the sarcastic pleasantry. Our last few mails have brought us intelligence of changes not less unexpected and grotesque. The possession of power in England, notwithstanding all the family tradi-tions and connections with which it is sustained, appears scarcely mere permanent than that of our last sent for. Who would have imagined that a shell thrown down at the steps of the Opera in Paris would strike, not the EMPEROR at whom it was aimed, but the PREMIER of Burgland—that it would fall at Westminster and shatter a Cabinet? Who could have dreamed shatter a Cabinet? Who could have dreamed that the Manchester magnates, who were driven before Lord Palmenston's ascendancy, and routed utterly at the place of their former triumph, because opposed to the policy of that statesman, should return to take vengence so signal, and should strike the decisive blow which has driven from power the strongest minister since the days of Lord Chatham? We might almost predict that a monta or two would bring us the tidings of another and another overthrow. We share the general satisfaction at the defeat of Lord PALMERSTON's bill; not on its own acor Lord FALMESTON'S bill; not on its own account, but because it seemed to be aconcession to threats intended to lower Englishmen in their own eyes and in the eyes of the world. We rejoice that they have repelled the calumny and spurned the very semblance of the yoke—that they have met intrusion on their freedom with a term resistance that they have not recovered. stern resistance, that they have not stopped to reason or expostulate, but have pronounced a !-and slammed the door. rejoice that they have done so at a time when they could only rely upon the goodness of their cause and their own internal strength; that they have shown the pluck of their ancestors, in face of the strongest military power in Europe.

There was sufficient to excite an apprehension are was sunctent to excite an apprehension of hostilities, because the passions of nations are more powerful than their interests, and those who suffer its evils are seldom the same as those who provoke the war. It is gratifying, however, to learn that NAPOLEON has interpreted the vote of the Commons, in harmony with the real feelings of the nation. No people of a foreign speech are half so dear to the English as foreign speech are half so dear to the English as their French allies. From none do they obtain so much genuine and hearty sympathy. Their high civilisation, their polished manners, their unrivalled ingenuity, as well as their great strength and resources, secure them a position which may be envied but cannot be contemned. To be engaged in hostilities with such a people must be a crime either in them or their enemies and the steps towards conciliation offered by the EMPEROR of the French, will do more to place the people of Great Britain on his side and against the assassins, than all the braggadocia and threatenings of his colonels. When calm shall be restored and the sense of intimidation removed, we have no doubt the Legislature will adopt any measure which, without trenching on the national liberties, may facilitate the detection of conspiracies.

The graphic account of the execution of Orsini and Pierri in some sense seems to give them a moral victory even upon the scaffold. Their spirit rose above their fate, and their death would be called heroic had they suffered in the cause of genuine panad deep sumered in the cause or genuine pa-triotism—and martyrdom, had they shed their blood for religious truth. The scornful laugh of the prisoners when the ceremonies which attend the punishment of a parricide were performed, would reverberate throughout all Italy formed, would reverberate inroughout all Italy; it does seem mockery to claim for NAPOLEON III the attributes of a father. The stigma of their crime will be affixed by history not on their hatred of NAPOLEON, of his dynasty and government, but on the recklessness of an attempt, which regarded not innocent life, but devoted to common slaughter innocent women and children the spectator and the stranger, and in a thoroughfare—the avenue to a place of public amusement.

The news from India will relieve the minds of our readers who have friends and relatives in that peninsula. The rebellion is evidently approaching a close. Sorrowful as is this episode in the history of Indian Government, it will probably consolidate the British power, and precipitate relorms which might otherwise have required ages to complete.

The state of the money market re anxiety on that score, except it be to those who have money to lend. Thus, in the course of three months, bank interest has fallen from ter to two and a half per cent., and even at that rate money is a drug.

The lowest interest since the discovery in California was two per cent. We all re-member the speculation which followed, and the thing which hath been is that which shall be, and that which hath been done, is that which shall be done, and there is nothing new inder the sun." So said Solomon.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT. Arren the last mail had left, I telegraphed you that Ministers had been defeated, and that the Times said Lord Palmerston should resign. Also, that your old Governor, Sir Charles Fitsroy was dead; and that your late Attorney-General Manning was knighted. The whole of the time since has been taken up with the resignation of Ministers, the appointment of their successors, and the unsettled state of our relations with France. I need not go into detail, because you will see it all in the papers which I have sent you. The resignation of the Ministry has checked the upward progress of things, and a feeling of insecurity now prevails which may probably last for some time. The eneral impression is, that the Derby Ministry cannot general impression is, that the Dercy Amistry cannot stand, as they dare not introduce any measures of their own, and they are not likely to be allowed to trade upon Lord Palmerston's capital, which they seem dis-posed to appropriate. The probability is that if Lord Derby finds himself in a minority, he will appeal to the country, and it is not expected that he will gain much by that. A few of his appointments are considered superior, but three-fourths of them are decidedly inferior to the men they have displaced. You will see that Lord Stanley is in the Colonial Office, and many persons think that we might have been in far worse hands. The question of questions, however, just now is the state of France. It is not supposed possible that a war could arise between England and France, but it is supposed, and very publicly expressed, that a Revolution is not far off. The repressive measures adopted by the Emperor since the attempt on his life have caused a spirit of discontent in France which he will

London, Wednesday, February 17, 1858.

PARLIAMENT is now getting deep into the India Reform Administration question. The speeches on both sides are admirable; all the eloquence, knowledge, and ability of the Commons are brought to bear on both sides. It is the general impression that the Government will carry this measure—if not, they must either "go out," or "appeal to the country." Public opinion is decidedly in favour of some change in the administration of Indian affairs. This is the thin edge of the wedge, and therefore will be supported; but the Rast India Company's influence is enormous, and may floor the Government.

The Government.

The Government have at length resolved upon occupying Vancouver's Island, now in the occupation of the Hudson's Bay Company.

The excitement upon the question of the alteration in our law relative to conspiracy to murder is subsiding. The letters which have appeared in the Moniteur, and that of Count Morny, have done no good so far as the entente cordials between the people of this country and the Government of France is concerned.

A Monsieur Bernard is now under examination at change, as a participator, with, it is to be reared, wo much reason.

The trial of the British Bank Directors has commenced, and is likely to occupy a fortnight.

Trade is dail, but improving. Money is very abundant and cheap, bills having been discounted at 1½ per cent. to the extent of £100,000 on Monday last. The current rate out of doors is 2½ per cent. The funds, foreign stocks, and railway shares are all rising. Consols are up to 97 to ½. Buenos Ayres 32 to 85, ex the deferred, which are 18 to 20. This is a considerable rise, and the result of the arrangements for a final settlement of the debt. Turkish 6 per cents. are 103. Peruvian 82 to 54. Russian 111 to 113, Spanish 445 to 45.

Peruvian 52 to ". Russan 11 to the Bank of England. The stock of bullion may now be estimated at £17,000,000, daily increasing, with a large amount of commercial soceptances under the head of other securities daily turning into cash; and as the supply of capital out of doors is so great, and the demand so light, there is every prospect of the Bank rate going down to 2 per cent. within no great distance of time, say within a month. Gold is "tumbling in fast." The European, from New York, yesterday brought £445,000.

19; but most strangely however not actually on that bill, but by a side blow from Mr. Milner Gibson, who moved, on the motion for the second reading, an amendment, being a resolution expersing regret that her Majesty's Government, before inviting the House to amend the law of conspiracy, had not replied to Count Walewaki's despatch of the 20th January, wherein he arrogantly and suthoritatively demands an alteration of our laws. This fell like a thunderbolt upon the Ministry. After a long debate a division took place, and the numbers were respectively 234 and 215. Vociferous cheering took place, Lord Palmeration lost his temper, and went out of the house in a passion.

Of course, this motion was tantamount to a vote of censure on the Government, and their resignation was inevitable. Accordingly Lord Palmerston wisted on her Majesty on Saturday, the 20th February, and tendered his and his colleagues' resignation, which her Majesty was, and doubt, delighted to accept, as his lordship and party are no friends of hers. Lord Derby was sent for, and has formed a cabinet.

Of the Cabinet, the one member who appertains the colonial interest, namely, the Secretary for the Colonies, is now Lord Stanley, the Secretary for the Colonies, is now Lord Stanley, the son of the Earl of Derby. His lordship is personally acquainted with the colonial interest, namely, the Secretary for the Colonies, as you are a ware, a resident for a time in Australia. The appointment is to be considered very favourable to the Australian interest.

As regards the new Government, it assumes office with a known minority in Parliament; but, nevertheless, as they purpose to bring forward measures of practical reform, I am inclined to think that they will liftingly establish themselves in office. Lord Derby has given a sketch of his policy, quarded, of course; but if the principles therein enunciated be only carried out in practice he will gain the confidence of both Parliament and the country. At the same time their measures will, in mame and material find it very difficult to allay. There has been a slight rising at Chalons, which some people pooh pooh, but others think indicative of a spirit which only requires a match to explode. I trus: we shall be saved from a match to explode. I trus: we shall be saved from the motion of the second reading, an amendment, being a resolution expressing regret that her Majesty's Government, before inviting the House

Of the Cabinet, the one member who appertains to the colonial interest, namely, the Secretary for the Colonies, is now Lord Stanley, the son of the Earl of Derby. His lordship is personally acquainted with the colonial interest, having made it his study, and was once, as you are aware, a resident for a time in Australia. The appointment is to be considered very favourable to the Australian interest.

As regards the new Government, it assumes office with a known minority in Parliament; but, nevertheless, as they purpose to bring forward measures of practical reform, I am inclined to think that they will firmly establish themselves in office. Lord Derby has given a sketch of his policy, guarded, of course; but if the principles therein enunciated be only carried out in practice he will gain the confidence of both Parliament and the country. At the same time their measures will, in name and material character, be precisely those of their predecessors. There will be both a Conspiracy Bill and an Indian Bill. The question of Reform will assuredly be shelved; it is one on which no Commons in split into a variety of shades of opinions on the matter; and, on the rule that "one cannot suit all," whoever brings it forward will be floored.

The downfall of Lord Palmerston's Administration fell with a crist on the F.conh Government, causing dismay and alarm far and wide. Everything appeared to be going on so smoothly. Her demands were being acceded to, add

The political state of France at this moment is critical, and any very false step will at once make things dangerous. Numerous arrests have been made, and some hundreds of persons are expected to be sent out dangerous. Numerous arrests have been made, and some hundreds of persons are expected to be sent out of the country.

The state of affairs has been, and still is such, that a most unnomfortable feeling has prevailed here—the fear of another revolution has been general, and it is the opinion of many that the attempt is not v ry far distant—perhaps one year, or two.

The trial of Orsini and his companions resulted in a verdict of guilty against all. The Court pronounced sentence of death on Orsini, Rudie, and Pierri, and Gomez to penal servitude for life. The three former have appealed to the Court of Cassation, but there will be no result beyond confirming the decision of the Cour d'Assizes. Great exertion: are being made to obtain for them a remission from the Emperor, sparing ir lives; but as they were the means of destroying fifty lives, and wounding as many more, it would seem that the law ought to take its course.

A case of considerable interest in connection with the conspiracy to murder the Emperor has occupied our Police Court, namely, the examination of a M. Bernard as implicated in the affair.

The Governments of France and England are in communication; and as both express a desire to maintain the most cordial relations, therefore it is evident that matters will be smoothed to satisfy all parties.

A general change has taken place in the passport system of Europe, which has already had the effect of almost suspending our intercourse with France. The receipts of the Sou'h-castern Railway last week fell off nearly £2200 in consequence.

Another revolution has broken out in Mexico: there are three, if not four parties, in the field, but Santa Anna is the one likely to succeed.

The trial of the two engineers has commenced at Neples, and is likely to last some weeks.

MELBOURNE.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]
MAY 13.—In local matters we have had a dull week.
During the brief Parliamentary recess—for so the adjournment of the Assembly for a fortnight must be seried—there has been very little to excite public attention in Melbourne. It is true that the Council has held several strikes. sittings, but the business brought forward, and the mode of dispesing of it when entered upon, has been such as to interest the community very slightly.

Amongst the most notable of the matters submitted to our "honorables" has been a motion by Mr. J. P. our "honorables" has been a motion by Mr. J. P. Fawkner, affirming the disapproval of the legislature of the principle of gentlemen holding high official positions as directors and governors of banking houses, also holding the places of respectable ministers, either in the Council or Assembly. The reasons brought forward by Mr. Fawkner, in support of his theory, were cogent enough, and his arguments were well pointed by the illustration of the case of the Bank of the United States, which—exasperated at the refusal of General Jackson to assent to the bill for the removation of its charter—threatened to "sweep the old Western country with judgments and executions" if vation of its charter—threatened to "sweep the old Western country with judgments and executions" if they supported him. The bank made an actual step towards the fulfilment of this threat, by extending; considerably its discounting operations in the West and Mr. Fawkner urges that banking Ministers here may find means of conciliation or intimidation in the Legislature itself. It was, perhaps, by no means an argument against the fears of Mr. Fawkner that, at the conclusion of his speech, the Council maintained a dead silence, and no one rose to second the motion, until at length Mr. Bennett second the motion, until at length Mr. Bennett seconded it for the sake of discussion, and in seconding it announced his opposition to it and his intention to vote against it. Of course, the President ruled this to be out of order, and the motion then lapsed for want of a seconder.

to be out of order, and the motion then lapsed for want of a seconder.

Some agitation prevails at present amongst our ultra-reformers—who affect to see, in the long adjournment of the second reading of the Reform bill by the Council, a spirit inimical to its provisions; and some meetings have been held in consequence—but chiefly convened by the convention. (By the way, this body is now sadly in want of a gievance, and can searcely find enough of political and social ills to enable it to exist.) I do not think that there is any danger of the Reform bill being altered by the Council. It does not affect the constitution of their body, and I am sure they would feel much segrieved if they passed an analogous bill, affecting their own branch of the Legislature only, and the Assembly were to presume to meddle with and main their offspring. So touchy are some of our honorables on their dignity, that Mr. Fawhere affected to consider the number of petitions is malienable from the British subject."

The retirement of Mr. Fellows from the representation of St. Kilda has brought forward four candidates for the honour of sitting a few days in the Assembly; amongst whom is Mr. J. B. Crews, a member of the Convention, and other ultra-democratic "tions." His chance seems to be as good as that of any of the rest, who are all unknown and untried men, and over whom, in this respect, he may have some advantage. The affeir excites but little interest, for the successful or the St. Kilda sleetion should extend to that for the Convention, and other ultra-democratic "tions." His called the sixty of the diocese, and formerly a nominee in the old Legislature Council. The number of votes polled altogether, was only 602—being 301 to each candidate. This is the only "tie" that has taken place at an election of that of Colec. Mr. Fellows had suffered much in public estimation by the cruel and misohisvous in public estimation by the cruel and misohisvous and other suffered much in public estimation by the cruel and misohisvous and other suff Naples, and is likely to last some weeks.

Thursday, March 11.

There have been several meetings of the Italian delegates to express the real sentiments and wishes of the Italians, on questions of nationality, in contradistinction to the cut-throat desires of some few democrats who have been hitherto supposed to represent that nation. They have issued an address to the European Powers expressive of their hopes and wishes, moderate and courteous in language, and reasonable and jost withal. They desire representative assemblies, Houses of Peers, open courts of justice, and elective municipal institutions; all which, they desire, should be formed without interfering with existing dynasties. They claim neither a republic nor a monarchy, but personal freedom and self-government.

A State document of considerable importance has been issued in Paris, in the form of a pamphlet, entitled, "The Emperor Napoleon III. and England," in which is calmly and clearly set forth all that his Majesty has done to maintain the closest friendship with England, explains his feelings on the late attempted assessination, with reference to the defects in our laws, by which no means are taken to prevent such as cot on the life of a sovereign ally, shows the importance to Europe of the alliance between France and England being maintained, and draws a faithful picture of the cordiality manifested by the soldiers, marines, and sailors of the two nations in all the contests in the Crimes, &c., descriptive of their unity of feeling, action, and purpose. All this is told plainly but dispassionately, and evinces the strength of mind, will, and feeling of his Majesty in a way so sensible when the assembled with the allegand of the Assembled of the casting the confidence of the condition of the Board of Lund and Works is still declined of the Board of Lund and Works is still doubtful, Mr. Pawkner's objections are home.

All this is told plainly bythe dispassionately, and evenes the strength of mind, will, and feeling of his Majesty in a way so sensible that shows, however faulty may have been Count Walewaki's imprudent despatch, France has a sense of right on her side in the way she looks upon the subject at issue.

The control of covernment will be able to a most friendly alliance with France. It appears highly probable that Count Walewaki will retire or be diminised. This would at once restore the good-will of John Bull, who may readily be coaxed out of, or will readily give, a thing, but will not be builted out of it.

A slight attempt at revolution took place on Saturday last, at Chalons, but it ended in the dispersion of a forcurable change in business.

On Thursday last, a meeting of American shipmasters and captains was held at the Argus Hotel, to consider the injustice (sic.) shewn to the Americans resident here under the British flag by the late proceedings with regard to certain of their vessels. The seizure of the General Narvell for unsatisfied debt by the captain, and the subsequent imprisonment of the mate for assaulting the police, was first adverted to in connection with the Anglo-American dispute as to the right of search in 1811. The Clarisas Bard had been compelled to give bonds to a certain amount before she could leave; and, lastly, the case of the Cornado was brought on the tapis. It was urged that the two first vessels had been allowed to clear, and that this should not have been permitted. Mr. Lord contended that in Victoria they should have the same jurisdiction as the Americans had. In the United States they attached the ship, but, there being no Admiralty Court in Victoria, they attached the captain, and the violence of the mate in the case of the General Nowell had given the authorities an additional jurisdiction. Some rather strong remarks were made, and it was ultimately decided to draw up a memorial to the Chief Secretary of State, and to embody in it all the papers in the possession of the American Consul in reference to the proceedings towards the crow of the Tornado. It is not probable that this step will meet with any great attention from the American Government, who can searcely venture to support the proceedings of the captains of the Wellfeet and General Nowell.

THE FOREIGN REFUGEES IN LONDON.

THE FOREIGN REFUGEES IN LONDON.

THE following correspondence (says the Times), respecting foreign refugees in England, was laid on the table of both Houses on the evening of Monday, 15th March. We need not remind our readers that this is the correspondence which it was the especial office of the present Ministry to conduct, as their predecessors had been expelled from office for having falled to answer the first despatch of the series:

EARL COWLEY TO THE EARL OF CLARENDON.

(Received Pebruary 24.)

My Lord,—Count Walewaki is very desirous that it simulations press to your lerdship his attonishmen in the House of Commons upon certain phrases in his despatch to Count Persigny of the 20th ultimo—actionshment that his meaning could have been misunderstood, and regret that he should be believed, with his knowledge of England, capable of applying as a generality an imputation which the context of his despatch ought, he thinks, to have proved could only have been intended for a definite class of strangers.

In the context of the count Walewaki, add that in the numerous conversations which I have hed with him during the last month his language has been in entire conformity with the assurances which I have hed with him during the last month his language has been in entire conformity with the assurances which I have thus the honour to convey to your lordship on his part. Moreover, his Excellency has evinced so much concern that the deplorable events which have occurred should not interrupt the friendly relations which exist between the two countries that it is not to be supposed he would intentionally have said aught that could be construed into an attack upon the liberties of the British nation.

Besides, what has happened! I beg you to signalise to the Government of her Britannis Majesty the existence in London of a sect of foreigners which, in its publications and its meetings, elevates assacination to door not be than eight assacins to strike a blow at the Emperor, as is proved by the declaration of the jury.

All these attempts, like that of the 14th of January, have found the Emperor impassive. Putting his trust in the protection of Heaven, his Majesty views with profound disdain the attacks which are directed only at his person, but the country has shown itself to be deeply moved by them; and as at the time when I addressed my despatch to you no repressive measure has been taken in London, which institutions of England, nar the motives of discretion of which Lord Maimesbury's communication speaks, was astonished that so much audacity abould have remained unpunished.

Moreover, the character of our proceedings was laid down to you in the clearest manner by the Emperor himself, who wrote to you towards the end of January: "If do not deceive myself as to the little officacy of the measures which could be taken, but it will still be a friendly act which will oaim much irritation here. Explain our position eleavity to the Ministers of the Queen; it is might be a firmed as a sering my life, it is a question of awing the Emperor foreign Governments to increase his personal security. A more elevated sentiment, an interest greater in his eyes, has guided him,—anamely, the maintenance of the good relations existing with the neighbouring States.

COLONIAL WOOL AND TALLOW CIBCULARS.
THOMAS SOUTHEY AND SON.
Tus fourth series of sales of colonial wool of the season commenced the 25th ultimo, and cancluded this day; they comprised as follows:

The state of the manufacturing districts in the north, and the sertainty of an absence of foreign demand, led us to anticipate one difficulty in clearing the above stock of wool at satisfactory results.

some difficulty in clearing the above stock of wool at satisfactory prices.

The moderate quantity of Australian wool offered, served, in a great measure to secure former rates, but the heavy weight of inferior scoured and handwashed Algos. Bay wool being forced on our home buyers, without any foreign competition, prices receded ld. to 14d. on November sales,—it all, however, was sold. This description of wool has found great support hitherto from Belgium and Germany, but we are sorry to say the late derangement confidence, and operations on foreign account were very limited.

The facece wool from the western colony, being generally in good condition, sold at former rates.

We are glad to announce the new clip from Port Philip indicates a prospect of the wool from thence proving in better condition this season than last.

The East Indian and other low wools will be sold on Tuesday, 18th, and following days.

In the proving considerably in excess of our estimate at close of December sales.

In the proving considerably in excess of our estimate at close of December; and the proving considerably in excess of our estimate at close of December; indeed it was very apparent that dealers and manufacturers were for the most part low in stock of wool, although it cannot on the other hand be questioned that the mildness of the early part of the winter had condused to the accumulation of large stocks of heavy goods in all hands, which have been but little reduced by the severity of the last three weeks. This accumulation having contracted the means of many, coupled with want of confidence, owing to the numerous failures of houses connected with the English and colonial wool trade, has most undoubtedly very unsterially reduced consumption, not of money had been an extended to the continent, and at present the low value of money of the Board of Trade rotters. The absence of any material spring trade with the United States in woollen goods, and the glutted state of other foreign markets, the defeat of the late Ministry, and the unsettled state of home and continental politics, has still further awakened distrust in the future, and no eleaver evidence of this can be given than by the returns of the Banks of England and of France, each successive return showing decreased demand for money with increased resources of unemployed origin.

Under these combined influences the sales commenced with a trader these combined influences them says on the close, leaving off a triffe byte December last, but below the opening rates.

MERCANTILE AND MONEY ARTICLE.

An adjourned meeting of the members of the Sydney Chamber of Commerce will be held on Monday (this day) at three o'clock, for the purpose of receiving and considering the report of the committee on the Brokerage system.

The English news brought by the Australasian is important. Money was easy, and good bills at short dates were negotiable at 2½ per cent. discount. Consols were steady, and were quoted at 97 to $ for the April account. The wool sales had taken place, and closed on the 15th of March, but the improvement anticipated was not realized, and prices remain much about the same as at the close of December last. The tallow market was a little firmer. From the tallow market was a little firmer. From the money article of the Times of the 23rd of March we extract the following:

E 100 TO £1000 TO LEND, on Freehold Freehold Property, CHARLES H. LONG, broker, 19. Perty, CHARLES H. LONG, broker, 19. ANYLESS, which appeared in the SYDNEY MORNING HEALD of the 5th day of May instant, I beg to state that at the time of our entering into partnership, it was stated to me by Mr. Thomas Lawless, that there was a sum of three members), and I thereupon gave Mr. Lawless the sum of £390 as my contribution to the funds of the firm, so that the public may see that to far from my joining the firm with a very small amount of capital, as stated by Mr. Lawless, I in reality took more money into the firm than any of the other partners.

Mr. Thomas Lawless has encleavoured to make it appear that the sum of £28, 381 was not remitted from Melbourne to Sydney, as stated in my advertisement in the Ansurs of the 29th of April last; but on a careful perusal of Mr. Lawless advertisement it will be seen that be only doubte whether I can verify that assertion, and admits that since March, 1837, the sum of £12,400 has been remitted from Melbourne to Sydney.

It is true that I requested Mr. Thomas Lawless and the other partners to come to Melbourne in order to obtain a seitlement of accounts (being myself in fear, if I proceeded to Sydney, and wished to leave that place, I though be arrested for very large sums of money) and the time Mear. Lawless and Mr. Microsem did come to Melbourne, but they did not bring Mr. Wright with them, without whom it would be impossible to come to any settlement.

With regard to the assertion of Mr. Lawless that he acknowledged that he had drawn the sum of £1500 from the day of April, on my behalf, proposed that the first besiness should be the ascertaining of the amounts drawn by each partner from the firm since I Joined it. Mr. Woolward, on the First head of the partner from the firm since I Joined it. Mr. Woolward, between the firm the sum of £1500 from the day of April, on my behalf, when Lawless were prepared to lose certains sums of money, but the amount was drawn. Doubling that, Mr.

nrm, I decline informing him what sum of money I have in hand.

(Signed) PATRICK CARNEY.

P.3.—I beg leave to say that I am now in Sydney, along with Mr. Leynam, from Geelong, with the express purpose of subtaining a settlement, and do not purpose leaving Sydney till such time as I get one, and not as Mr Lawless states in his letter, my own way, but the way it which I have always wanted—an honest and unjright way I have beard, since my arrival in Sydney, that Mr. Law less was in great fear of my leaving the colorles, has much that be left a party behind him at Melbourne twatch me, whether I wand do so or not. The public will now have an opportunity, by perusing this and my previous letter that appeared in the Sydney Mennich Herald, whether I was inclined to do so or not.
